Well done 😊

Dear Parents,

This week, the children enjoyed a school disco and also watched a virtual panto together as a class. We enjoyed a festive week that also included creating some more Christmass crafts and spreading sparkly Christmas cheer. Thank you to the PTFA for continuing to support the school by creatively coming up with ideas that help our children to live life to the full. Here are a few pictures from the week:

We said goodbye to Mrs Elliott who is retiring this week. We will miss her but we know that this is not the end as she has promised to come visit and read with the children. We wish her all the best as she sets off on new adventures that involve a cruise! You have been a marvellous teaching assistant, Mrs Elliott, and we hope that you continue to enjoy life and spread joy.

If you would like ideas of how to build a joy of reading within your child, you can visit the following website. There you will find ideas on what your child can read next, book recommendations and examples of books by authors they already know. They might even find something new and exciting that you have not come across before! Here is the link: <https://www.booktrust.org.uk/books-and-reading/bookfinder/>

Have a marvellous break and I hope that you find the time to rest and recharge. Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year. See you all after the holidays.

Kind regards

Mrs Babbage
